ROUTES DU BONHEUR Rajasthan, the country of princes

In Hindi, the name Rajasthan means "The Land of Kings" and, to this day, the place feels untouched by time. From the palaces of the Maharajas to impregnable fortresses, from the Thar Desert to luxuriant forests harboring natural reserves where tigers roam free, this trip is an exotic dream come true.

1 JAISALMER — 3 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

SUJÁN The Serai, Jaisalmer

Hotel and restaurant in the desert. The Serai, Jaisalmer, sits on a 100-acre private estate of indigenous desert scrub, drawing inspiration from the designs of the royal caravan sites of Rajputana; blending their dash and vivacity with modern amenities and services. Venture into the mystical environs of Jaisalmer, discover its fabled golden fortress, now a Unesco World Heritage Site. Amidst this haven of peace the SUJÁN spa offers treatments in enclosed gardens. At the Dining Tent restaurant, enjoy local delicacies as well as Western dishes, from daily changing menus that are meticulously planned using fresh ingredients. The enchanting location makes for a perfect evening to succumb to the charms of the legendary Manganiyars musicians.

2 JODHPUR — 1 NIGHT

(1 property available)

From the impressive fortress of Merhangarh, constructed from red sandstone, the historic city of Jodhpur and the astonishing azure color of many of its buildings can be glimpsed. Traditionally associated with the Brahmin caste, this particular hue was once reserved for the homes of the highest ranking members of the social group before spreading to all homes across the city. Today, it gives this ancient city-filled with small alleys and mazes—a unique charm and an astonishing freshness amid the stark desert landscapes.

3 BISALPUR — 3 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

SUJÁN JAWAI

Hotel and restaurant in the desert. With spectacular views of a dramatic wilderness, life at Suján JAWAI celebrates the great outdoors. Spend unforgettable days on wilderness adventures and tracking leopards; breakfasts in the bush, yoga outdoors and delicious dinners under constellations of an unending starry sky. It is the most sophisticated and ecological way to discover a truly enchanting landscape. A wander to outlying villages allows immersive experiences of local culture and insights into some of the camp's brilliant community projects. With just 10 tents including a Family and a Royal Suite, Jawai redefines sustainable luxury in the wilderness.

4 JAIPUR — 1 NIGHT

(1 property available)

Nicknamed the "pink city" for the color of the buildings in its old town, Jaipur fascinates visitors as much by its architecture as by the effervescence that reigns there. Founded in 1727 by Prince Sawai Jai Singh II, its unique checkerboard layout follows ancient astrological design rules. Linger in its streets and in the City Palace that Rudyard Kipling compared to the Palace of Versailles, or in front of the sumptuous Hawa Mahal ("Palace of the Winds"), which is worth the trip alone...

5 RANTHAMBHORE — 3 NIGHTS

(1 property available)

Suján Sher Bagh

Lodge and restaurant in a game reserve. In the immediate vicinity of Ranthambore National Park, known as the kingdom of the tigers, Suján Sher Bagh camp captures the spirit of a 1920s safari. Arranged around a campfire, its elegant tents—all exquisitely decorated and featuring private verandas— are the ideal refuge for budding explorers. Dominated by the imposing citadel that lends its name to the reserve, the jungle is full of the ruins of palaces, monuments and follies, now taken over by spectacular wildlife. Thanks to their in-depth knowledge of the park and its occupants, Suján Sher Bagh's guides offer an unparalleled safari experience, comprising two expeditions—in between, you can relax in the swimming pool, in the shade of trees. A traditional Indian dinner provides an opportunity to exchange stories of the day's exploits around the campfire. With dishes prepared in earthen ovens, using produce from the garden, this unique dining occasion is also destined to become a treasured memory.
